

AEGIS Status and Outlook

Wednesday, 17 September 2014 11:30 (30 minutes)

The experiment AEGIS is currently taking data at AD.

The experiment is aiming to form a cold antihydrogen beam to perform a direct measurement of the gravitational acceleration on antihydrogen and spectroscopic measurements. The goal, the preliminary achievements, the status and the perspectives of the experiment will be presented.

Primary author: Ms TESTERA, Gemma (INFN)

Presenter: Ms TESTERA, Gemma (INFN)